Editor's Message

Welcome to issue 4, the final digital publication of the year. From the beginning, we've wanted to create a digital publication that speaks to cam models, and industry peoples, bringing stories and interviews from camgirls across the world, and create a community of readers and viewers that help in the building process as well. We thank each and every model, creator, cam girls, and industry pros we've spoken with, worked with, consulted with, laughed and have fun with. Your time and contribution is greatly appreciated and again we thank you.

This issue features Emily Cheree as our cover story, a beautiful and talented woman out to make a difference in the lives of women who've escaped the sex trafficking trade. Unfortunately, she herself has her own story of being trafficked, and escaping the horrible ordeal. You can find her story starting on page 28.

We have 3 amazing cam girls, xMochaPuffx, Dee Jai, and Miss Vallentease. These three women are amazing and unique in their own right, and have something to share. So, make sure to stop by each one of their Q & As, and find out more about them. You can also visit our website and click on their stories for the blog experience. Their active social links and websites will be available on each post.

Moving forward we will be working on arranging departments for CamGirl Vixen Magazine. We've started with this issue but in the upcoming new year things will be more fine-tuned. We welcome any suggestions you may have in regards to having us create and deliver a better product.

Lastly, with this being the last portion of the year, we would like to wish everyone a Happy Holiday Season and a fantastic new year. We know that there will be a lot of celebrating over the holidays so please be safe and know your limits. Remember to be kind, and share a good deed with a total stranger.

We hope you enjoy issue 4. And for now, we say farewell, and see you in the new year.

I WANTED A WAY FOR CUSTOMERS TO GET OFF TO ME WHEN I WASN'T ONLINE

MET XMOCHAPUFFX, an independent adult film producer, webcam model & full service companion.

Hello xMochaPuffx! We're glad you were able to take the time to speak with us. Let's jump right into things.

Tell us a little about yourself growing up; and What were your favorite TV shows, hobbies?

I was quite the little artist growing up, actually. I went through a phase where I was pretty set on working for Pixar. If I had to pick a favorite TV show from my childhood it'd definitely have to be That's So Raven. Shot right in my backyard of San Francisco, it was such a wholesome, healthy representation of a beautiful, hilarious Black American family.

At what age was your first crush?

Oh gosh, really resting my memory with these nostalgic questions! I can't remember the exact age but I definitely recall having a huge crush on Peter Pan, like the cartoon from the book I had. Second major crush? Definitely the twins on the Sweet Life of Zac & Cody.

Wow, so when was your first kiss?

Highschool, sophomore year I believe? Nothing short of awkward as many first kisses are, LOL. My friend & I went to this... it was basically a club for highschool-age folks. I recall being up on this boy, we were "freaking" as we used to call it back then, he turned me around and the rest is history.

Looking back at your childhood, what's one thing you would tell you adolescent self?

Don't give up so easily. You are more talented than you realize.

Through high school, what were you best known for?

Wearing ties. It was my attempt at making the school dress code (which limited tops to polo shirts) unique to me & I definitely thought I was hot shit for it at the time!

Still, in high school, what did you want to pursue as a career at that time?

I was working through the possibility of a creative career, possibly related to digital art, television, modeling or acting.

How were the boys with you in high school; we're they at your mercy, or did they keep their distance?

LOL I was a stereotypical "weirdo" in high school. I reckon to say I got much more attention from girls.

What about college, what was that experience like for you and share one stand out moment you remember clearly?

College was definitely a time of serious development. Due to a couple toxic relationships coming out of high school, I developed depression & anxiety which made it difficult to fully enjoy the college experience for what it was. I definitely felt that it went by a little too quickly, and perhaps that's indicative that I wasn't as prepared as I thought I was.

I can't say I had many stand out moments. One day during our spring break does come to mind, though...So, I'm a homebody. When I went to college, I really didn't do much socializing on campus. But I had just gotten out of a relationship, it was the beginning of spring break and that day I decided to text a boy. We only chatted maybe once or twice before but never hung out.

Long story short, we linked up, he took me to the most epic day-party I've ever been to, and by the end of the night we were officially dating.

The reason this day stands out is because it was one of the first times I genuinely felt part of my campus community. This boy was a social butterfly & introduced me to all his friends, some of which later became close to me as well. It was also the beginning of a wonderful relationship with a guy who I went on to make tons more epic memories with. That day kinda commemorated real "start" to my college life, even though I was already halfway done. I started having more reasons to leave my room other than attending classes.

What led or inspired you to creating content online?

Producing my own indie porn started with web-camming. I wanted a way for customers to get off to me when I wasn't online. I was also inspired by other cammers who were making content as a means of bringing in more income.

I assume you enjoy creating content for your online audience; what is your favorite thing about it

...creating the kind of content you do?

I honestly enjoy the technical side of filming content. The set design, the framing, the angles, the lighting, the editing choices... all of that. I try to pay attention to small details & am pretty picky about what content actually gets released to the public.

What else do you want to pursue in life, for fun or as a career?

I'm definitely looking to pursue more film and modeling work, both within the adult industry and for mainstream markets as well.

Of all the things you've done in your life, what are you most excited about, or most proud of?

Choosing sex work

As you share your content, what's the most common feedback you get from your audience?

My clips where I play 2-3 characters gain a lot of popularity. My customers love the creativity and effort that goes into making clips where I play multiple roles.

"MY CUSTOMERS LOVE THE CREATIVITY AND EFFORT THAT GOES INTO MAKING CLIPS WHERE I PLAY MULTIPLE ROLES"

NEVER . FUCKING . BETTER

QUESTIONS: CamGirl Vixen | WORDS: Dee Jai

“Growing up I knew I was interested and wanted to be a part of the adult industry. I felt it made me confident - my life before now was a mess, I used to run away from home and getting in trouble with the police and my family. However, I would always be the one to want to achieve my goal.

If I wanted something, then my mind set would be to just go out and grab it and that's exactly what I did with becoming a CamGirl. I went to college to study fashion and art and now I'm studying at university doing Criminology and Psychology.

My transition to wanting to be a Camgirl got the support from my partner and I couldn't be happier. I love to paint horror style paintings which I love to sell, I'm very artist. I love fashion and contribute to making clothes especially for my sister who's a fashion designer.

HELLO DEE.

Great to have you here and thank you for taking the time to speak with us. Thank you for giving me this amazing opportunity.

So tell me, what first attracted you to CamGirl Vixen Magazine?

I just started camming and modelling and came across this amazing magazine and I thought what better way than put myself out there with confidence, with being a part of this amazing crafted magazine.

Tell us a little about yourself?

I just love just being creative (with my art, makeup and my YouTube) and I love going out with my friends and having a good piss up at a club

What are some of your hobbies, and things you like to do? Art is one of my main hobbies and the thing I love to do. I love blocking everything out and painting creative artwork that people love. I also love creating content for my Youtube Channel – another way for me to be creative.

What is one thing about your childhood you would never change?

Probably everything especially being bullied throughout my entire life. I believe that being bullied from a young age has made me strong and confident and made me the person I am today. It taught me to never take shit from anyone – and to pretty much punch them in the face when they're pissing me off.

What is one thing about your childhood you wish was different?

One thing I wish that was different is being able to stand up for myself and to not care what other people thought of me. I was so concerned about people's opinions on me that I only tried to please everyone else other than myself.

At what age was your first crush?

My first crush was when I was 6, he was blonde with spiky hair and we lived next door to each other. Unfortunately, he was never interested in me but that didn't stop me from chasing him around our neighbourhood trying to kiss him.

When was your first kiss, and what was the experience like?

When I was 8, my first kiss was with my friend's cousin. We went into the bushes around the corner of my house. I sat on top of him and began kissing him – wasn't very romantic as there was spiders and bugs crawling up our backs. I was head over heels for him and definitely wanted him to be my boyfriend, but I never got to see him again after that as he was only visiting my friend.

Looking back at your childhood, what's one thing you would tell your adolescent self?

That things get worse before they can get better.

Through high school, what were you best known for?

I think I was best known for being the only tall person in my class, I've always been quite tall and there was never anyone else that could tower over me.

How were the boys with you in high school; were they at your mercy, or did they keep their distance?

They surely kept their distance. I was always very shy in front of any boys in my school and would always be with the girls because I felt more confident. I don't think the boys were interested in me either, I wasn't the most attractive girl in the school.

What about college, did you ever go and if you did, what was that experience like for you. Share one stand out moment you remember clearly?

Yes, I went to college for 2 years to study the level 3 extended diploma in Art and Design. I absolutely loved the experience because that's where I met my closest and best of friends. One stand out moment is when my college course all went to Amsterdam and all of us students got so high and drunk with the teachers – best experience of my life. I think that's another reason I wanted to be apart of the adult industry because my favourite part of Amsterdam was the Red-Light District – I was so fascinated in being in those windows looking sexy as fuck.

Tell us about your first sexual experience, and what did you discover about yourself?

My first sexual experience was awful. It happened with my ex's best friend who I became attracted to. I was living on my own in the college halls at this point and I asked him to come around that night (I wasn't intending on having sex). Once he came around, he was high on so many drugs which put me off, but I liked him, so I didn't think much to it. One thing led to another and we ended up having sex in my single bed – the sex was boring, painfully bad and lasted 10 seconds, NOT KIDDING! He left the next morning and he never spoke to me again, he made sure of that by blocking me on everything. Till this day I don't understand why he did that.

What led or inspired you to creating content online?

What inspired me was seeing these amazing talent models on social media especially one of my friends Maia Goodwin who is a part of camgirl vixen magazine too. She educated me on camming and inspired me to just do it without any hesitation.

What else do you want to pursue in life, for fun or as a career?

I honestly would love to continue to have webcam as a career especially for FUN! I do want to eventually become a youtuber, I would love to tell so many fun story times on being a Camgirl.

Of all the things you've done in your life, what are you most excited about, or most proud of?

Going to university to get my BA of Honours degree in Criminology and psychology – I feel so proud that I went for something I've always been interested in and I can't wait to see what my future holds for me.

What's one talent most people don't know you have?

I can draw and paint – most people don't really know I can do either and I guess it's something I don't really talk most about.

DON'T WORRY, I PAID FOR THE ZUCCHINI AND EVEN COOKED AN AWESOME VEGAN MEAL. THOUGH IT SUCK I NOW HAVE TO DRIVE 30 MINS TO A DECENT GROCERY STORE, I DID GAIN THIS AWESOME NEW BIO STORY AND WAS GRANTED THE NAME, THE ALMOND MILK JUGS GIRL.”

WELCOME EMILY! Great having you here with us. There's so much to your story, and we know that what you share will be of great value to our readers. With that being said, thank you for being a part of CamGirl Vixen Magazine.

Before we dive into the meat of the matter, tell us a little about yourself. What were things like for you growing up; including your favorite TV shows, books, hobbies, etc.?

I grew up in the hicks, literally middle of nowhere. Corn field in the front, river in the back. I have never been big into tv or parties. I loved reading and writing.

Looking back at your childhood, what's one thing you would tell you adolescent self?

I would tell myself to stop listening to my parents earlier.

Through high school, what were you best known for?

Hmm. I was mainly addressed as "josh's little sister" by students but teachers considered me a leader. My friends are I started GSA, open minds and other after school programs and I was the president of each of them.

Still, in high school, what did you want to pursue as a career at that time?

I wanted to go to Rutgers University and be a journalist.

How were the boys with you in high school; we're they at your mercy, or did they keep their distance?

I never had boyfriends or anything like that in high school. It was never something I cared for or was interested in. I wouldn't say they kept their distance or were at my mercy. I started working young, I started my first baby sitting business at 12 and had two jobs by 16. My focuses were completely different than the average high schooler.

What about college, what was that experience like for you and share one stand out moment you remember clearly?

I dropped out of college maybe 4 times. I loved going to school but I always felt like I learned more outside of school and made more money not doing the professions offered by schools.

At what age was your first crush, and your first kiss?

Wow I don't even know. Probably young. Like first crush maybe 4th grade. I think my first kiss was 17.

Tell us about your first sexual experience, and would you go back and change it if you could?

Definitely. Unfortunately my first time wasn't by choice. So I would certainly change that. After that I was not into the idea of having sexual relations. My first sexual experience after that was when I was 16 and with a girl. I don't think there is anything I would have changed about that.

THE SKYSCRAPER PROJECT

You were gracious enough to spend a little time to speak with us directly. What initially had you consider collaborating with us in this manner... being our cover and main feature?

I haven't done any exclusive interviews in a few years. I felt it was time to put myself back out there for the purposes of men and women having a deeper sense of different lifestyles.

We dove into a bit of your personal life, and as you shared your story, we discovered you are out to make a difference in the lives of women who've been victims of sex trafficking. With that, you were lead to create The Skyscraper Project.

How did the Skyscraper Project come about and what was the catalyst that caused you to start it?

After I was sex trafficked I didn't have any guidance. The law enforcers don't really care about sex trafficking survivors after they're at 18. Women are blamed for it as if it was their choice. So many people asked how could I go from being sex trafficked to stripper to adult actress...it's pretty simple that my options weren't of the norm. I didn't have family to go back or any stable help. I was in a foreign state, alone. I did what I had to survive in a new world that I thought was meant for me. I started the Skyscraper Project to show women it's a lie. You can be anyone you want after trauma. You can grow.

ONE OF MY FIRST EVENTS WAS HELD ON SKID ROW. I SPENT THE DAY THERE JUST SPEAKING TO OTHERS, HANDING OUT WATER, CLOTHING AND FOOD.

What's the main goal you wish to achieve with the Skyscraper Project?

I want to build a strong community for women to help find their strength.

Is there one or two stand out moments or stories you can share with us while holding a Skyscraper Project event?

One of my first events was held on Skid Row. It's one of the largest homeless areas in LA, many women are raped, pimped out and so on. Volunteers and I spent the day there just speaking to others, handing out water, clothing and food. A group of people started trading items. I'll give you a protein bar for a sweater and so on...then one handed me a bag of chips and asked if he could have pants and I told him no, you can have both. He tried to argue with me and said he can't take both. So I handed him the pants and walked away. He threw the bag of chips at me and said that's not how we do things here. He wasn't being mean or crazy aggressive- they just want their community to give back as well.

Another was at a college event we attended. Just meeting other sex trafficking survivors and hearing them share their stories. These women and children are so brave.

How has the Skyscraper Project changed your life, if it has at all?

It's made me more vulnerable and willing to discuss things I wouldn't have prior.

SEX TRAFFICKED SURVIVOR

YOU'VE COME QUITE A WAY ON YOUR JOURNEY, AND HAVE DONE QUITE WELL. NOW, IN CREATING AN ORGANIZATION LIKE THE SKYSCRAPER PROJECT, A LOT OF YOUR MOTIVES COMES FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE.

Along with the women you are helping, you too were a victim of sex trafficking. How did you get caught up in it all, and what was that experience like for you?

I moved out pretty young. I was working two jobs and rented a room from a high school friend's parents who were struggling financially. Unfortunately the mother was a raging alcoholic and it was a bad environment.

I left and moved in with my dad who lived over an hour away. It forced me to quit my two jobs [I had at the time]. I was actually job hunting when I was approached. I didn't have a vehicle so I walked to places within walking distance of [my dad's] house.

THE SETUP

The guy who approached me looked about my age, and if I had a cigarette. I told him no and he proceeded to ask what I was doing and that he noticed me going from business to business. He told me about a company that his brother owned that was a traveling sales job. He said they sold books and magazines around the world to different businesses and that if I'd like, he could get me an interview. He gave me his brother's info and said they'd be in town for the next week or so getting more recruits. I didn't initially consider it [and] a few days later I got hired at both Subway and Burger King. I'm not sure what happened but I got so depressed thinking about my future and how I [don't want to] end up like [my] siblings, living in Minnesota working minimum wage jobs and never seeing the world.

I ended up calling him and asking if I could get an interview. I wasn't sure how to tell my dad that I would be leaving Minnesota if I were hired - he was so happy that I was finally back home and I didn't want to hurt him. So I lied to him and told him I was staying at my friend's house for a few weeks before she left for the military. The guy I met, along with maybe 3 or 4 others came to pick me up. At first it was super legit. They stayed at a nice 5 star hotel, I had an interview in the meeting room, they took all of my documents and had me fill out paperwork and they hired me. It was the weekend, so we did fun things. [Training didn't start until] Monday.

My training was real, they gave me packets of info and had me go with another girl from business to business with a script. The girl seemed dead inside but I didn't think much of it, after a while she would just sit wherever and just wait for us to be picked up. I asked if I could have a new trainer because I felt I wasn't learning

“THE GIRL [I WAS TRAINING WITH] SEEMED DEAD INSIDE BUT I DIDN'T THINK MUCH OF IT... I FELT SAFE. IT WASN'T UNTIL WE GOT OUT OF STATE THAT THINGS CHANGED.”

“ I WAS OUT...[AND] I WAS HONESTLY A TOTAL NIGHTMARE. I DIDN'T EVEN KNOW HOW TO BEHAVE, SPEAK TO PEOPLE OR ANYTHING. ”

enough with her. They had me train with [another guy] instead and everything truly felt normal. I even [came] across another girl from my high school. I felt safe. It wasn't until we got out of state that things changed.

I first noticed my cell phone and ID were missing. Then, they stopped dropping me off at businesses and brought me to houses. The first experience was [with] a business owner so I spoke to him about our books and mags. He went along with it at first and then tried touching me. I don't remember how I reacted at first, [and] he asked would I prefer he go along with my 'story'. He filled out the paperwork 'signing up' for a magazine, and tried touching me again. I grabbed everything and ran.

I remember sitting outside till the van got back; and everyone was cheering and laughing. It was like a game to them. I didn't know if I was the only one or not but later a girl invited me to her hotel room and said she had a man coming by who would pay more for two girls. That's when I realized what it really was.

BREAKING FREE!

How were you able to escape the sex trafficking cycle, and what was life like for you the days a months after it was no longer a part of your life?

I tried escaping in San Diego while they were recruiting new girls in a strip club. I warned the girls not to leave with the group and one slipped me her phone number and said she would help me get out as a thank you for warning them. I waited for everyone to fall asleep and snuck on the hotel phone and called her. I remember her telling me to leave my things. She said "your things are replaceable, you're not". I snuck out of the hotel and ran across the street and waited for her. Unfortunately, it was a trick and the place she said I could stay at was actually a pimp's house.

She helped me get to Portland, Oregon which was far from this group, but [now I had] a new pimp. Things were drastically different though. He fed me, got me clothes and got me hired at a strip club. He said it was for me to get enough money to get back home and even go to school.

He was initially very kind to me in comparison to others. It wasn't until he tried forcing me to have sex with him that I really realized I was back in the same situation. Even though he kept all of my money, [and] told me it was for my benefit to save it for my future and I was in an extremely vulnerable state where I actually believed he had his best interests and was helping me. After he tried raping me, I knew I had to get out. I had a secret stash of $20s and called a cab while he was in the shower. I was dropped off at a coworker's house and she helped me with a game plan to escape. There was a customer who gave me his number so I got [in] contact with him [and] told him everything that was happening. He drove from San Jose to Portland and got me out and moved me to San Jose.

I was out...[and] I was honestly a total nightmare. I didn't even know how to behave, speak to people or anything. I had gone so long without being allowed to make my own choices that simple things like "what would you like to eat" was too difficult for me.

Emily Cheree
THE GREAT ESCAPE

I tried going to job interviews for regular jobs but couldn't answer simple questions.

I ended up going back to work at a strip club because I felt most comfortable in that environment. I could be anyone I wanted, and I knew how to speak to men at clubs.

It was a super unhealthy environment which eventually led to me having a sugar daddy who tried "helping" me financially by telling me I should porn. He knew about me being trafficked and felt it was best for me to have sex for money and be able to keep the income for myself. I told the other dancers about [it] they complained to management. They didn't want to work with a girl who would be willing to have sex for money and I was fired. I didn't directly go into porn. I [started] doing nude photo shoots and it wasn't until I hit rock bottom and was homeless that I started filming adult films.

What are some tips, or even warning signs you can share with our readers to help keep them on guard from becoming a sex trafficked victim?

Sex traffickers look for vulnerable girls, typically ones out alone, who seem as if they have no one or won't be missed. They hang up signs about job offerings, promising lots of money and traveling. It's just so important to be mindful of your surroundings. I remember one girl getting into our van while completely wasted and had no idea what was even happening. You really have to take care of yourself and trust your instincts.

A YEAR OF PORN

There was time in your life that were an adult performer, and you were very open with us about your past.

How old were you when you got into the industry, and what led you there?

I was 19. Definitely my environment led me to the industry.

What was your experience like as a porn star and how long did you play that role?

It was a super toxic experience for me. I was in the industry for no more than a year, but within that year, I was lied to, raped, abused and so on. My first scene was a total scam. When I signed my contract I only agreed to nude photos and solo masturbation at most. I booked my own gigs in San Jose so assumed it would be just as easy with an agent but agents are just legal pimps.

After I signed I was told I could no longer book my own gigs - so I stopped, eventually leading to me living in my car. After about 2 months my agent offered me a boy girl scene under an alias and that it was just to help me financially and I would never be asked to do boy girl again. I said no, until it reached to $5k for the scene...I agreed. The next day my agent called with tons of offers - but all boy/girl. I questioned it and he admitted he told the companies I would do boy girl. I ultimately left my contract for a different company...It only got worse. I tried ending my contract [but couldn't]. I blocked everyone in the industry instead.

What, if anything, did you learn about yourself after quitting porn?

I learned how strong I was and what I wanted for myself.

There's something striking you mentioned that struck a chord. You shared that you get recognized quite often, and there was an experience you had with a co-worker that recognized you.

Tells us about that experience...what happened?

It's happened so many times! I think just about every job I have had, I have been recognized. It doesn't matter how many tattoos I get, weight I gain or hair is different. Two that especially stand out:

1ST INCIDENT

I worked as a receptionist for a solar company and I didn't initially know I was recognized. A man ended up getting fired for making sexual comments towards me but I had an idea why he was saying such things. Then the manager made a comment after that saying hey I know your past is your past and I want you to always feel safe here. I acted as if I had no idea what he was talking about. A few months later that same manager asked me how he would go about starting a porn company, I told him I had no idea and he laughed and said I didn't have to pretend I wasn't in the industry and that he knew who I was. After that I felt so uncomfortable and ended up quitting.

2ND INCIDENT

Another time was last year [2018]. I worked as a stylist for a well known brand. I became friends with one of my coworkers outside of work, going on hikes etc. but never told her about my past...it's always been irrelevant to me. One day she asked me if I ever feel uncomfortable with people seeing me. I didn't really know what she meant and told her I was comfortable with myself and didn't care. A few weeks later in a group chat with other coworkers she made a comment about not wanting to work with me because she didn't feel comfortable being near "the porn star" and wanted to moved to a new location. I texted her privately asking her why she would say that. She proceeded to call me a whore and gross and that I should just go back to doing porn full-time because I wasn't welcome at a "respectable" job. She had already put in her complaint to corporate, and not to worry because soon I would be fired and could go to being the slut that I am. Three days later she was fired! Corporate spoke to me directly and told me what I have done outside of the company doesn't interfere with my capability.

GIRL LOST / NOWHERELAND

THE GREAT ESCAPE

“ THERE IS A SCENE [IN THE MOVIE] WHERE THE GIRLS WERE HIRED FOR A BACHELOR PARTY AND THERE WAS “DANCING”...IT WAS THE ONLY TIME I FELT UNCOMFORTABLE ”

You had an awesome opportunity to be cast in a film that went on to get some great reviews. Tell us about how you got the role as Bridgette in the acclaimed film Girl Lost (NowhereLand)?

I actually got approached by the director while dancing! She told me I looked exactly like the girl she had in mind for the main character - Shara. After reading the script I actually emailed her saying I wouldn't be a part of it as it was too close to home. Of course she had no idea but afterwards [when I told her about being a trafficked victim] she rewrote a lot of the movie and gave me the character Bridgette (I still had to audition). She even set me up with an acting coach and truly helped me with the film.

You were also an exotic dancer right?

Yes

How did your experience as a dancer influence your role?

It didn't really influence it as Bridgette wasn't really a dancer in the film. It's funny because there is one scene where the girls were hired for a bachelor party and there was slight "dancing" and it was the only time I felt uncomfortable. Though I was a dancer - keep in mind I never went on stage and I only worked day shift. Lol!

You're quite the talent. Was this your first acting role outside of adult films?

Yes and no. I was a theatre kid my whole life so it was the first acting in film but not first time acting.

Girl Lost 2: A Hollywood Story* is to be released soon and you reprise your role as Bridgette. How is part 2 different than part one. And, if you are able to share, is it linked to the first film?

Yes it is linked to the first one. Let's just say Bridgette has begun "bettering" herself in the best way she knows and is still willing to help others better themselves too!

ARTIST & CONTENT CREATOR

“ I NEVER WANT TO PAINT WITH THE HOPES OF IT TURNING OUT GOOD. I JUST WANT IT TO COME OUT AS AN EMOTION REGARDLESS OF WHAT IT LOOKS LIKE! ”

IT seems as if you've gone fully independent, doing your own thing and kicking ass with it all. Let's chat a bit about some of your current works and ventures.

We discovered that you host art shows. What are these shows about?

Curating art shows is totally new for me. I just began recently, basically I host art shows with other people's art and raise money for women's shelters, sex trafficking survivors etc.

We discovered you're quite the artist yourself. When did you get into art, and what does it do for you?

I actually got into art as a form of therapy. I never thought myself as any good or never thought I would become good at it. I'm slightly disappointed in my success as an artist because it has taken away some of the freedom of creating. I never want to paint with the hopes of it turning out good. I just want it to come out as an emotion regardless of what it looks like.

Patreon is one of the main platforms you post to on a regular basis. What can subscribers expect to see on your Patreon account. My patreon is actually very cool. There's every bit of ME on there. I write about topics that I enjoy or am exploring, along with traveling, photos and so on. It's the best way to truly know me.

Conspiracy theories is a theme that pops up on your Patreon. What's one of the craziest conspiracy theory you've written about?

The craziest is more than likely whether Queen Elizabeth the second is a cannibal or not. It's not so crazy to me necessarily but I did get a lot of feedback and questions on that one in particular.

You are also active on Instagram, Twitter and OnlyFans. Are there any other website or platform you post to?

Nope! That's it. If it's my name and picture, I promise it's a fake account lol

What else do you have going on that you can share, and is there anywhere else fans can find your content?

The only places to find my content are on my direct sites.

People will always draw conclusions without ever truly knowing you, so what are some positive things about you wish more people knew?

Hm. I live a pretty positive life. I remember reading a convo about me where to men went back and forth saying I am always angry about something and that made me chuckle. I'm honestly super content and don't have a reason to be angry. Life is far too short and beautiful. Not even sure where they came to the conclusion.

I think one other that has always struck my attention is questioning if I were sex trafficked and why would I showcase my body if I was once forced to. It's important to me to feel confident in my body. It took me years to truly love myself, the way I look and all that. Insecure people don't show off their bodies: it's too difficult to. I want every woman to know it's ok to feel sexy after trauma. It's not shameful.

Quick Safety Tips for Cam Girls & Nude Models

It's exciting quite an exciting time when you first start out as a model of any sort. In this industry, especially as a cam girl building your brand, you generally love to push the boundaries, get a little risqué, and even get naked. Your intentions are pure and you do your best to find reputable photographers and producers to work with. But, unfortunately, in all the excitement, let's not forget to arm yourself with the knowledge and know-how to navigate the phonies that may want to work with you. As a model, your safety is paramount...everything else is secondary. There's only one you, and you must take care of yourself.

HERE'S A LIST OF 5 THINGS YOU CAN DO TO STAY SAFE ON AND OFF THE SET.

DO YOUR RESEARCH

1: Most photographers and producers you will work with will have a website or a series on online profiles that display their work and showcase their portfolio. A simple Google search can reveal quite a bit. If nothing pops up about said photographer...that's a red flag. Can't find any videos of said producer...hmm...that seems fishy now doesn't it. Before you go into anything check references and do your research before getting involved.

BUDDY UP

2: Get in the habit of taking a friend to the set with you, especially if you are working with the photographer or producer for the first time. This is something that some photographers may not always like, but pro photographers will generally have no issue with you bringing a buddy along. As a professional, the photographer or producer will do their job and direct the session appropriately. If you find that they insist that you come to the set alone, then that looks like a red flag to me.

LET OTHERS KNOW YOUR WHEREABOUTS

3: As a new model, you may sometimes forget, but simply informing a friend or family member of your whereabouts as you work can be a life saver. You can also download various apps that can signal your location to select people on your list so they stay up to date as to your location.

IT'S OK TO SAY NO!

4: There may come a time when you feel uncomfortable for whatever the reason. Just say no, and trust your gut feeling. If you're directed to do things that you deem unsafe, or if you don't like how you're being spoken to, speak up. Let them know how you feel, and be clear. This may ruffle some feathers, but it's better to have a feather fight than to compromise your safety and wellbeing.

KEEP PERSONAL INFORMATION PRIVATE

5: This may go without saying (or not), but if you are on a shoot or even if you are at home on a live cam show, it's wise to not share your private information. In this digital age, hacking and identity theft is all too common. Avoid using your full name, your physical address, places your frequent in a specific area, etc. You never know who may get the crazy idea of wanting you as theirs. Yes, this is real. Too many cam girls have stories about stalkers, running in to fans gone wrong, and photographers or producers that try to force themselves to meet up outside of the "work" space. Keep your private life and work life separate.

REMEMBER THAT THESE ARE JUST SIMPLE TIPS. EACH SITUATION WILL BE DIFFERENT. USE YOUR GOOD JUDGEMENT TO ASSESS THE SITUATION AND BE AWARE OF YOUR SURROUNDINGS.
